MSCA Announces Three New STAR Contractors 92 MSCA Members Have Achieved Elite Status

ROCKVILLE, MD – The Mechanical Service Contractors of America (MSCA) announced that Arden Engineering Constructors, LLC (Pawtucket, RI), Illingworth Corporation (Milwaukee, WI) and Sander Mechanical Service, LLC (Branchburg, NJ) recently achieved MSCA STAR status, bringing the total number of STAR contractors nationally to 92. MSCA STAR is a qualification program that recognizes contractors who exceed rigorous operating and training standards set by MSCA.

MSCA STAR qualified contractors represent the best in HVACR service for commercial, institutional and industrial customers. MSCA STAR companies have demonstrated that they offer customers unsurpassed support, quality workmanship and safe and reliable service. STAR contractors complete a detailed application covering a wide range of criteria, including maintaining a superior safety record, offering outstanding customer service and remaining focused on continuing education and training for all of their employees.

In addition, at least 25% of the contractor's technicians must be UA STAR certified to ensure they employ the best trained and qualified workforce.

“MSCA STARs have a proven record of success with their customers and continue to uphold the highest standards in their work and their customer service,” said Barbara Dolim, Executive Director of MSCA. “Contractors who have attained MSCA STAR status can prove that they surpass the customer's requirements in customer service, training and safety.”

The MSCA STAR program is independently verified by the National Inspection, Testing and Certification Corporation (NITC), an ISO 9001 and ANSI-accredited certifying organization. To see a complete list of MSCA STARs, click here.
